A Good Work Well Done

Today, August 1st, 1924, there goes into operation San Antonio Community Hospital which was originated in the mind of Mrs. Frances Paul and carried to a realization by her son and daughter as well as her relatives and friends, which includes the people of this entire district.

Those who knew Mrs. Paul during her life time loved her because of the life she lived during her residence here. Her main aim in life was to give a helping hand to those who needed help and to assist every worthy cause in behalf of the city which was her home. Thus she conceived the idea of a foundation fund for the erection of a hospital to serve the West End of San Bernardino County.

For many months she spent a vast amount of time on the project, but illness came and she passed to the great beyond, leaving a work well begun, to be brought to a successful completion by others. E. W. Paul, knowing of his mother's wishes, carried on with the assistance of his sister, Mrs. Edw. C. Harwood, as well as friends and neighbors throughout the west end of this county, and today the new hospital on East Tenth Street is occupied by those needing the service of the most modern institution of its sort.

The San Antonio Community Hospital is bound to be a success, for it is based on service to a community and the service is to be rendered without profit to any one.

Those who worked to bring the hospital to a successful completion were at times discouraged in their efforts, but through all they carried on, and Wednesday it was plainly shown that their efforts were appreciated for people came from every section of the West End district to inspect the new hospital—they came from towns far and near, and almost as one voice praised the work of the architect, the builders, the superintendent, Caroline Vermilye, the board of directors and all those who have been actively engaged in bringing the wonderful institution to a successful completion.

HARD IS THE WAY OF BOOTLEGGERS

Bootleggers suffered severe losses at the hands of Sheriff Walter A. Shay's dry squad during July when 33 of their ilk were arrested. The total casualties, however, reached 53 as 20 accused liquor traffickers were arrested in San Bernardino by federal officers after a two months' investigation by Edwin E. Grant, a vice crusader.

The county officers—in an average month— nabbed 30 bootleggers. Twenty-one of this number were convicted or pleaded guilty in the courts during the month and were fined a total of $3,300. The Wright Act specifically provides that bootleggers shall not be sent to jail if able to pay fines on first offenses where possession of liquor is charged. In virtually every case where bootleggers are arrested—arrests—not operatives—arrested bootleggers the charge is session, as the offenders are captured and their supplies confiscated.

1000 Gallons In One Raid
In the offenses against the liquor traffickers, the dry squad seized 12 stills, thousands of gallons of liquor and sh. In one raid alone in Etiwanda district, 3,000 gallons of apricot brandy and stills were confiscated by Sheriff Shay's officers.

In the raids by federal officers on evidence furnished by Grant, the president of the State Law Enforcement League, 20 accused bootleggers were arrested in San Bernardino. Grant declared that he went "many thousands of miles" in obtaining his evidence. In practically all of these cases the arrested are accused of selling liquor.

Sheriff Shay declared that July was "an average month"

BRANCH BUILDING
AND LOAN ASS'N
FORMED HERE BY
BUSINESS MENWestern Loan & Building Company Enter
Local Field

V. H. Wilson, President; J. W. Heinicke, Vice-President; H. O. Blohm, Sec.-Treas. of the Upland Branch.

To assist in the development of the city, local men have this week organized the Upland branch agency of the Western Loan and Building Company which has its headquarters at Salt Lake City, Utah.

The directors are: J. Lynward Grahame, J. W. Mehl, O. P. Brady, J. B. Perschbacher, Glenn Wright.

Working under the mother organization in Salt Lake City, the new Upland branch of the Western Loan and Building Company, is now exercising its privilege of making loans to prospective home builders.

In speaking of the organization, H. C. Hookstra, general agent, stated that the legal designation, "Building and Loan" is really a misnomer, as the company does not build itself, but simply assists the would-be home owner in financing his own home. In speaking of the Western Loan and Building Company he said that it is 32 years old and not only serves as a Building and Loan Association but also as a Homestead Association, a Mutual Loan Association, and a Savings and Loan Association.

Qualified to transact business in eight western states, the Association has an authorized capitalization of $60,000,000, and resources amounting to $13,500,000 and a reserve fund of one million. In the state of California it has $500,000 state deposits. In several of the states where the company is now operating it acts under the supervision of the State Banking Department but in California it is legally termed a Building and Loan Association.

In making loans the company limits its transactions to those who desire to build or upon property which is already improved and expansion is desired.

Local stockholders in the new concern will be very much interested in the news that down in Orange County—at Santa Ana, to be exact the Western Building and Loan Company has financed the construction of the newly completed Bunting Building which has twenty-one apartments with individual garages, roof laundry, grocery stores, barber and shoe shops, hardware store, cafeteria, public market, drug store and several others. In fact it is said to be a little town under one roof, erected at a cost of $125,000. A company which is able to add such structures as this to a town may well be encouraged by Upland or any other live wide-awake town.

RECORD CROWD
AT BAND CONCERT

A hot day followed by a delightful Southern California evening combined with the fact that Director Wilding had prepared an excellent program for Upland's weekly Joy Night, brought out the largest crowd last night since the summer concert season was started.

Carl Holmquist, euphonium soloist, delighted his hearers last night in his rendition of "Delsartean Polka" by Bennett, and received hearty applause.

Mr. Holmquist spent thirty years in the United States army and is a retired army band master. Those who failed to hear Mr. Holmquist last night may hear him at Ontario this evening.

BUILDING TOTALS
$7875 FOR MONTH

With the drowsy summer months here, comes a feeling of relaxation, and no one is planning very strenuously on new buildings or business or even social activities but even so permits issued by E. C. Mehl city clerk of Upland, show that money to the amount of $7875 will be expended this month on houses.

Mrs. Mable Williams heads the list with a $3000 permit for a five-room house on Third avenue. Others are Harry Hedges, Sixth avenue, five-room dwelling, $2,400; Mrs. Mary J. Wilson, Washington boulevard, three-room dwelling, $1000; D. O. Craig, 5th avenue, two-room dwelling, $300; H. J. Announcement

Steam Plants in Operation Permits Unlimited Use of Electricity on Saturday and Sunday Nights.

Installation of steam plants, together with the co-operation of consumers has resulted in a new order being issued the Ontario Power Company by H. G. Butler, power supervisor for the Railroad Commission.

The order received by the Ontario Power Company is to the effect that consumers are to have the unrestricted use of juice on Saturday and Sunday nights—that is, street lights may be used full capacity, merchants may light their stores and display windows to their heart's content and advertising signs may be lighted as well, while a householder can flood his home with light if he so desires and read all night.

Commencing Monday, however, get back on the 25 per cent reduction plan and follow it until Saturday night rolls around again.

NEW ORANGE SHOW
HOME COLORFUL

Final decision assuring the $125,000 permanent home for the National Orange Show was made yesterday at a meeting of the exposition building committee.

Complete plans for the exposition structure, which will be the largest building of its kind in the world, were fully approved. Twenty sets of the plans and specifications have been prepared by De Witt Mitcham, architect. These will be given to contractors, who desire to bid on the construction, today and tomorrow.

The bids will be opened on August 15, and the contract will be awarded on that date. It is expected, it is planned to start on construction work by September 1st. A time clause will specify January 1, 1925, as he date on which the building is to be completed.

Meantime the finance committee will complete the sale of the bonds, to finance the entire cost of construction.

The mammoth structure will be 805 feet long and 135 feet wide. The citrus fruit section is to be 360 feet long and the industrial section will be 440 feet long.

At either end of the fruit section there will be a gallery for spectators. A permanent stage will be built in the east side of the fruit section.

The fruit section can be converted into an auditorium to use for other shows at other times of the year, if desired.

The entrance to the exposition building will be typical of Southern California. The building properly will face north toward Mill street instead of diagonally towards the intersection.

Plaiza to Be Colorful
Semi-circular colonnades will lead from the building proper half enclosing a cement plaza in the center of which will play a Moorish fountain.

Colorful booths will be erected beside the colonnades in which tickets will be sold. This outdoor entranceway will be of such ample proportion that it will eliminate for all time congestion at the show gates.

The front and rear of the building proper will be of reinforced concrete construction finished in a cream colored stucco and trimmed with brown art stone. It will be of the Spanish Colonial type of architecture.

Main entrance from the plaza will be through five arched gateways, all of which can be used on holidays or when the attendance is unusually large. These will permit the operation of as high as 20 gates.

The eastern colonnade will terminate in three wide arched gateways through which automobile traffic will pass. Auxiliary automobile gates can be operated either east, if desired.

The western colonnade will end at a spur track of the Pacific

HE WAS SHOT-BUT ONLY HALF SHOT

Halted by an excited motorist and warned not to go further along the road if he valued his life or his possessions, R. C. Miller, of San Dimas, was one of several valley residents who participated as spectators or actors in an exciting episode on the Chino-Corona road a short distance this side of the Circle city yesterday afternoon.

Grave as the situation at first appeared and in spite of a heavily armed man who was apparently guarding the roadway and holding up autoists at the point of his gun as they approached, the whole thing was, in reality, a present-day "Comedy of Errors."

According to the information given to Mr. Miller there was a man heavily armed just ahead who was either a desperate highwayman or a lunatic. He was stopping the machines as they came along the highway from both directions and ordering the drivers to park at the side of the road. Someone had managed to slip away and had notified the Corona police. The latter arrived a few moments after Mr. Williams had been stopped and he saw them take the man away. The other autoists, all excited, gradually dispersed.

From Corona officers last night came a solution to the mystery. The incident happened at the bridge two or three miles this side of Corona. A rancher known as Miller, who resides near the bridge, had, according to the police, become gloriously "pikled" on bootleg liquor. In this condition he had started for town in his car. According to his story to the officers he had held out his hand to make a turn when someone shot him through the outstretched member.

It was to get some motorist to notify the Corona police of the shooting that he stopped them. The Corona police stated that this was undoubtedly correct but that at the time Miller stopped the people he was so far under the influence of liquor that he was unable to make himself understood and had unfortunately forgotten to put up the gun which for some reason he had with him.

There was one empty shell in the gun when officers examined it and they were inclined to think that Miller had accidentally shot himself, and was laboring under the hallucination that he had been shot.

It was stated by Corona officers that a charge of driving a machine while intoxicated would probably be lodged against the man. Miller is said to be well known in Corona where he bears a good reputation.

PRIZE CONTEST
CLOSES TONIGHT

Under the heading, "Something Everybody Wants This Summer," a page ad appeared in Tuesday's issue of The News carrying numerous advertisements of local merchants and offering three prizes to contestants.

Bright and early Wednesday morning answers began pouring into The News office and each mail has brought more of them. All answers must be in The News office by midnight today, August 1st, and in next Tuesday's issue of The News the winners of the contest will be announced.

Prizes of $3, $2 and $1 in merchandise at any place of business advertised on the page will be awarded to those winning the three prizes.

Electric, which will bring the street car patrons directly into the exposition grounds.

The building has been designed so that large crowds can enter and leave with ease.

Fire protection has been planned with high pressure hydrants as well as stations for chemicals. Park of subtropical foliage will be set out between the west side of the building and South E.

No Posts in All Interior
Structurally the building will be unique. With its floor space of 108,000 square feet there will not be a single pillar or post in the entire interior.

In every way the Orange Show building will be the largest of its type in the state, it is believed.

Plunge on the Outside, Sprinkle on the Inside, Whether Its Saturday or Wednesday—Makes No Difference Just So You Take One.

Special preparations in behalf of members of Red Hill Country Club are now under way, in fact the Baptist members have been all prepared for, but there is a delay in preparation for the Methodist members all because of a Methodist.

The other day President Motinger and Secretary Combs christened the swimming pool by filling it with pure water and now any member of the club or member of his or her family can take a full length plunge into the cooling waters that came from the snow-covered peak of Cucamonga mountain a year or two ago.

Members of the club place the delay at the door of E. C. Mehl, who is also of the firm of Mehl Hardware Company. The shower baths are complete except the sprinkler and Mr. Mehl states said sprinkler will be in place in a day or two.

Members afraid of water can use the shower while those who enjoy more water can jump in the plunge.

W.C.T.U. GIVES FINE PROGRAM

At the Pacific Palisades on Wednesday, July 30, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union gave the program. The Upland Union was represented by Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Atwood, Mrs. J. M. Berry, Mrs. W. A. Getty, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cromer and Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Patton. Mrs. Hall of Highland Park later joined the group on the way.

The large assembly platform with a background of rich, dark blue drapery, the profusion of white flowers—a symbol of the order—and the red lights occasionally, gave a most picturesque setting for the speakers.

A petition with 17,000 names of members of the W. C. T. U. in Southern California against the $3 beer bills recently introduced into congress formed part of the decoration. It was draped on the walls of the auditorium and was read with keen interest by everyone.

Mrs. Eva Craven Wheeler, state president, presided. Delegates were present from the 150 local Unions of the eleven adjacent counties of Southern California. It developed that the membership during the last three years had increased from 5000 to 17,000.

One hundred trained women as state officers, county presidents, state presidents, evangelists and lecturers are developing ideal methods for bringing scriptural, scientific and governmental truths before the commonwealth of California.

Prominent among the speakers of the morning session was Mrs. Francis Beveridge Heald of the Soldiers and Sailors' Home of San Diego, formerly state president of Nebraska, who stated that 1600 men on an average registered each month this W. C. T. U. Home Center, and where every young man receives a personal gospel message from the House Mother or her assistant.

Mrs. Kelly gave an illustrated talk on World Peace.

Dr. Herbert Booth South of Los Angeles gave his interpretation of Woman's Political House Cleaning. Deep and solemn, yet punctuated with sparkling wit at times.

The Whistling Trio, consisting of three young ladies, gave many "whistful" numbers.

The afternoon session was unique in this classification. Many chiefs of many kinds: short addresses were made by Mrs. Tom McCallan, delegate to the Democratic National Convention; Miss Gabriella T. Stickney on the "New Party."

Mrs. Roseworld of Ohio, delegate to the Republican National Convention, and Miss Marie C.

ATTACH NO BLAME FOR ACCIDENT

No blame was fixed for the death of W. C. Grogan, who died Wednesday night at the San Antonio Hospital from injuries received Monday night when his motor car was struck by a machine driven by W. Sanford Newton, Pomona automobile salesman, at Central avenue and Tenth street, the jury which heard the inquest before Coroner J. B. Hanna at Draper's mortuary bringing in an accidental verdict.

Death was held to be due to a fracture of the skull near the left ear. Testimony was presented to the effect that Mr. Grogan, in applying the brakes upon noting the approach of the Newton car, had risen in his seat, with the result that his head struck a bow from which protruded an iron button, causing the fracture. Mr. Grogan, who was accompanied by M. P. Noll, was driving north on Central avenue, and Mr. Newton was proceeding east on Tenth. Neither car was moving at an excessive rate of speed, according to testimony.

Chief of Police J. F. Sawyer of Upland, who was called to the scene of the accident shortly after its occurrence, probably proved the most important witness. Chief Sawyer testified that marks on the highway indicated that Mr. Newton had slid his tires a distance of 30 feet before the impact and had carried the Grogan machine a distance of 20 feet after striking. Since the Pomona car was much heavier than that driven by the decedent, the officer gave it as his opinion that Mr. Newton could not have been traveling at an excessive rate of speed.

Walked From Car Unaided

Testimony was introduced to the effect that Mr. Grogan was able to walk from his own machine to another car, a distance of 40 feet, after the accident and entered into conversation with others present. Mr. Noll, who was thrown from the Grogan car in the crash, testified that Mr. Grogan asked, "What shall we do?" and Mr. Newton stated that in reply to his question as to why he had driven from a dirt road onto the paved highway without looking, Mr. Grogan replied that he and Mr. Noll had been in conversation regarding a house deal. Dr. Calvert L. Emmons, who attended the injured man, testified that while dazed, Mr. Grogan talked coherently following the accident, but went into a state of coma about seven hours later. Testimony of Dr. E. H. Hull, of the General hospital, who performed an autopsy, was to the effect that death was due to fractured skull.

Chief Sawyer testified that the intersection at which the accident occurred was considered dangerous on account of the proximity of lemon trees, and that since the fatal crash, "Dangerous Corner" signs have been ordered and will be erected there.

Mr. Grogan was 67 years of age and was unmarried. He had lived for a number of years in the Monte Vista district and was employed at the packing house of the West Ontario Citrus Association. Funeral arrangements, which are in charge of Todd and Reeves, Pomona, have not been completed.

Stahm, vice presidential nominee of the Prohibition party.

The closing address was given by Mrs. Nellie G. Burger of Missouri, state president; subject, Legislation.

Following the session a reception was given the speakers in the library.

HUNDREDS VISIT
NEW HOSPITAL
ON OFFICIAL INSPECTION
DAYDedicatory Services

as Well as Working Committees are Praised by Those Inspecting New Hospital.

The San Antonio Community Hospital, the dream of hundreds of public spirited citizens throughout the district for years, made possible through the initial gift of $75,000 of the late Mrs. James L. Paul, was opened to the public on Wednesday, thousands of whom thronged the corridors and visited the rooms during the afternoon and evening.

At three-thirty the dedicatory service was opened by Earl W. Paul, who gave a short talk, outlining the history of the hospital, and explaining the ideas of those who were most closely connected with the building of the institution. Glenn D. Smith, of Ontario gave the dedicatory address, in which he paid high tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Paul, and to the active interest shown by her son in carrying out his mother's ideals and wishes.

Dr. R. C. Stone of the Presbyterian Church was the next speaker, who spoke of the importance to the colony in having such a wonderful health center in its midst. Dr. Stone gave the dedicatory prayer.

A suggestion, made by Charles E. Harwood that a tablet to the memory of Mrs. Paul be placed in the building was received with enthusiasm by the large gathering of people, and a committee of two numbering Alois Podrasnik, and Glenn D. Smith was appointed with power to procure a larger committee for the purpose of securing the tablet and making arrangements for the installation.

At the close of the service Mr. Paul opened the doors of the Hospital and during the rest of the afternoon and all through the evening interested citizens of the entire West End thronged the halls, and saw the plant from beginning to end.

Several of the room were completely furnished, beds made up, and flowers and potted plants everywhere, giving a homelike atmosphere throughout the building. In the nurses dining room, a table was laid for a meal, showing the china and silver which will be used, and in one bedroom an invalid's table was set with everything necessary, even to the dainty table napkin. All these details were most interesting to the people, and the nursery was a centre of attraction, the tiny wee beds ready for the babies, and all the wonderful equipment at hand for the comfort and health of the new arrivals.

Beside the corps of ushers and hostesses ready and eager to show every one over the hospital, each door was "tagged" with descriptive notices so that those failing to get in touch with a leader could easily find for themselves what each place represented, the donor, and the necessary information regarding the various rooms.

On the reception committee were Mrs. Caroline Vermilye, superintendent who has been indefatigable in her work for the new hospital, assisted by several of the nursing staff, members and their wives of the hospital board, and West End doctors and their wives, all helping to make the people of the community feel that it was their hospital, ready to help them in their hour of need, taking their sick and tried bodies into its healing arms, and sending them forth refreshed and renewed to enjoy their lives with health and strength.

In the reception room members of the various organizations in Upland, Ontario, Cucamonga, Etiwanda, Alta Loma and other districts served ice cold punch to the visitors, and throughout the building the strains from Wilding's

"THE GOLDFISH" AT THE CALIFORNIA

"The Goldfish," which opens to night at the California Theatre, Pomona, is ideally suited to the comedy touch of Constance Talmadge. It is light and frothy and airy and Miss Talmadge enacts her part with her usual zip and pep.

In this picture Miss Talmadge has got away from the costume and semi-serious parts to the kind of comedy for which she is famous. It is the story of a flapper who has five proposals, is married four times, is a widow once and who finally remarries her first husband. It is the kind of comedy which has a peculiarly strong appeal to women.

Imp of Mischief
Miss Constance, an imp of mischief, takes the part of Jennie, a Coney Island Wildflower, who picks the piano while her husband sings in a cheap variety show. Her metamorphosis into a patriotic hothouse plant who almost becomes a Duchess, affords the comedienne opportunities for some of the most delicious comedy she has ever given the screen.

The picture is fast in tempo, chock full of laughs, and is good for many a smile of merriment.

Besides Constance's New York "winking girl" comedy, Jack Mulhall's Bowery boy "line," Jean Hersholt's teutonic mannerism, William Conklin's Fifth Avenue brand of humor, Frank Elliott's Piccadilly quips, and Edward Connelly's French brand of fun, all add to the general good time. Even the dog, "Dinky," and the goldfish himself in his glass bowl provide many laughs.

Fifth Avenue Scenes

But "The Goldfish" is not all Coney Island, Harlem boarding houses and apartments for Riverside Drive women who spend a million a year. There is a quiet elegance in the Fifth Avenue scenes in which Constance, stripped of her chewing gum, blossoms forth as a real queen.

"The Goldfish" gets its title from the fact that the married couples who disagree, instead of going to Reno, hand each other the goldfish, for a heart's balm.

Fumigation Will Start in West End of County This Next Week

Fumigation of citrus groves in the western end of the county will begin next Monday. It was announced Tuesday at the monthly meeting of deputy horticultural inspectors at the Farm Bureau office. Groves in Redlands and Rialto are being fumigated this week.

Though the orange crop this year will be only 85 per cent of that of last year, it will be above average in yield, as the 1923 crop was a bumper one, it was stated by J. P. Coy, county horticultural commissioner. A yield of over 4,000,000 boxes is expected.

Scale Shows Big Decrease
That there is less citricola scale in the county than in the past several years was reported by all the inspectors. War on the pest, however, is being conducted in all the main citrus centers.

All foremen and operators of fumigating and spraying crews are now required to take out licenses, Mr. Coy said.

Because of abnormal weather conditions, the pear and apple crops are unusually poor in all sections, the inspectors reported. The pear crop is expected to average about 50 per cent in yield and the apple crop about 35 or 40 per cent.

June Drop Nearly Over
Fifteen inspectors attended the meeting, which was presided over by Mr. Coy.

June drop has practically stopped in all districts and the heat wave, which started last week, has not caused any serious recurrences of the drop.

Chief worries of the grower now lie in the water supply, which, however, affects the citrus rancher relatively less than other ranchers because of the more stable character of water companies and their older water rights.

TELEPHONE FOR DIVERS

Through a new device, called the "laryngophone," deep-sea divers now can talk over a telephone line with those above, according to the Popular Science Magazine. Until the invention of this instrument, divers could communicate with their assistants only by pulling on the life line, for the noises produced by the pumping of air drowned their voices. The "laryngophone" is held in tight contact with the throat and transforms the movements of the throat into intelligible speech.

Printing Money

WHAT is it that makes a genuine American bit of currency, fresh from the bureau of printing and engraving, look so attractive? Well, it is not exactly because its appearance is pleasing to the eye, because of its fine lines of coloring and its velvet smoothness to the touch.

The value which one places on currency of the United States is not the pleasure it gives to the eye as a fine piece of printing, but for what it will buy in the way of necessities or pleasures, or the credit that will be given for it if it is placed in a bank or invested in the form of securities.

In contrast with the value of currency of the United States, which for 50 years has been at par, is the paper money that is being used by the people of Germany and Russia and some other nations of Europe. Printing presses are busy turning out currency in large quantities, but it is practically worthless for buying purposes, and the printing is of the crudest kind.

The Russian ruble has no value that need seriously be taken into consideration, and the German mark has fallen so much in international favor that the piece of paper which would normally command twenty-four cents of good American money may be purchased at the rate of eighteen cents for one hundred marks.

The old idea that paper money and lots of it, regardless of what was back of it, would give the people a cheap medium of exchange and bring about a condition of prosperity, must be abandoned, if even its advocates are not to find themselves ridiculous. As an economic policy, fiat money finds its death blow in Russia and Germany.

Paper money is nothing more or less than a promise to pay; and if the nation that issues it is without property that is pledged and lacks the character that will create confidence, currency is hardly worth the paper on which its denominations are stamped. American money is backed by gold or credit of a high character, and it is worth its face anywhere in the world.

Wise Old Noah

THERE is one thing you have to give old Noah credit for—he didn't wait for it to commence to rain before he started in to build the ark. Some people may not feel that Noah was right in spending so long a time in building the ark, but they must admit that he was wise in that he didn't sit down and wait to see what his neighbor was going to do.

Noah believed in preparedness. If he lived here, and doctors and health officers told him that an epidemic would probably sweep the land if he didn't cut the weeds on his premises and fill up the low, wet places where mosquitoes breed, he'd clean up. If he saw a foul spot on the premises where millions of flies and insects were breeding, and then carrying on their wings and feet the filth that had accumulated there, he would have removed that foul spot and gotten rid of the pests.

We can practice preparedness here and now just as Noah did in his day. We don't need the ark to save lives—all we need to do is to cut the weeds, fill up the low places where water stands, clean out cess pools and alleys, and scatter a little whitewash and lime about fences and outbuildings. Typhoid germs, malaria germs and scores of other kinds are breeding by the million now. Don't take a chance on them—don't invite an epidemic of sickness and death by ignoring their dangers. Like old Noah—be ready for an emergency by having your premises clean and healthful.—Beverly Hills News.

A New Fifty-Cent Piece

A NEW coin, a fifty-cent piece, is now ready for distribution. It was struck by the United States Mint in Philadelphia in commemoration of the Huguenot-Walloon Tercentenary. The obverse bears the profiles of Admiral Coligny and William the Silent, two leaders of the Huguenot cause; the reverse pictures the ship Nieu Nederland, in which the Walloon colonists came to America.

The first of the coins was presented to President Coolidge in the presence of a distinguished group, including Ambassador Jusserand, of France, Ambassador de Graeff, of Holland, and Ambassador de Cartier, of Belgium. In acknowledging the gift, President Coolidge declared that the observance of historical anniversaries preserved the spirit of the spiritual pioneers who gave its first character to the spirit of America. He paid special tribute to the settlers from Belgium, France and the Netherlands because of their willingness to suffer for freedom of conscience.

Air Mail Achievement

THE AIR MAIL service has advantages of which comparatively few people are aware. The planes have flown over 2,000,000 miles, much of the distance at night, with not a single fatal accident. The ratio of mail destroyed by accident to that safely transported was 120 pounds to 360,000 pounds, which is declared to be a much better record than in any other form of mail transportation. It is likely that the transcontinental air mail service will be largely resorted to by banks. Estimates show that in transactions between the New York Federal Reserve Bank and other Federal Reserve Banks there would be an annual saving of interest of over $800,000 if the air mail should take the place of trains in making exchanges. In addition to all those advantages, it has been shown that the air mail is a financial success in itself, showing a profit to the government of over 40 per cent on the first trip from San Francisco to New York. Apparently this latest Republican innovation has proved its worth from every point of view.

Tested Recipes

Stuffed Peppers

Select six large sweet green peppers, cut off stem and take out the seeds; soak in salt water over night. Mix together one cup cooked chicken or veal (or any little bit of left-over meat) chopped fine; one large tomato, peeled and chopped fine; one half a small onion chopped fine, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon butter and one raw egg. Fill peppers, put in baking dish, pour over and around them a little stock. Bake twenty-five minutes.

Panned Tomatoes

Cut large tomatoes into halves, put in a baking pan, dust with salt and pepper, put a small piece of butter in center of each; stand in a cool oven and bake for half an hour. When done, lift each carefully without breaking, and arrange on a meat platter; add half a pint of milk to the pan, then a tablespoonful of flour mixed in a little cold milk; when this is boiling, season with salt and pepper and pour over tomatoes.

Rice Spanish

One cup rice, washed and dried. Fry in one tablespoonful hot lard (not brown), add one small onion chopped fine, two good-sized tomatoes or one-half can tomatoes; cover well with water and let simmer for three-quarters of an hour; salt to taste. Stir often.

Escalloped Corn

One can corn, cracker crumbs, two cups, grease a granite baking dish; put in a layer of corn, then of cracker crumbs, salt, pepper, butter, continue until all is used; pour over sweet milk. Bake in moderate oven about forty-five minutes. Delicious made with some brands of the canned milk.

Succotash

One pint of lima beans, one pint of corn pressed from the cob, one-half pint of milk or cream, one tablespoon of butter. Shell the beans, cover them with boiling water, add a teaspoonful of salt and boil twenty-five minutes; then add an eighth-teaspoonful of baking soda, boil one minute and drain. Score the corn and press it from the cob, add to it the beans, then add the milk, butter, salt and pepper; stir continually over the fire for five minutes and it is ready to serve.

Stuffed Tomatoes

Take one-half dozen firm, ripe tomatoes, scoop out centers and mix with left-over scraps of meat; season to taste. Bake fifteen minutes.

Baked Carrots

Scrape and slice carrots, boil with a little water until tender, put in a baking dish in layers seasoning with salt and pepper, on the top lay three or four strips of bacon, put in hot oven for about twenty minutes, or until nicely browned.

Potato Cakes

Cold mashed potatoes ground with cold meat, onion if preferred, salt and pepper. One egg beaten well to roll cakes in, then put in cracker crumbs and fry.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Clothes Pegs

Dip clothes pegs in white enamel paint and dry in the sun. They will keep perfectly clean and will not slit or mark the clothes.

Saucepans

One should be very careful to keep the lids of saucepans very clean. If not, the flavor of one dish will cling to the lid and may spoil the second dish which is prepared under the same lid.

Window Cleaning

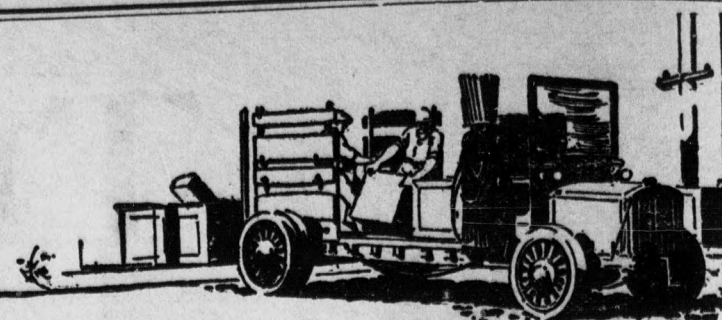

Window cleaning can be made very easy by using a piece of chamois dipped in hot water. Wring it out and go all over the window with it—turning the chamois cloth frequently. The windows will not require rubbing with dry cloths and will dry with a beautiful polish.

Pantry Shelves

If given two coats of ordinary white paint and a third finishing coat of white enamel, pantry shelves will be much nicer than they would be if they were prepared, and they will be very easily wiped clean with a damp cloth. As soon as the enamel dries, wash it with cold water and it will harden very quickly.

Salt Fish

Salt fish should be soaked the night before they are to be cooked in cold water, to which has been added a few spoonfuls of vinegar. Place it in enough cold water to cover it and gradually bring to a boil. Then let it simmer for about a quarter of an hour.

Seven years of thorough satisfaction

The Overland Freight Transfer Company of San Francisco operates over 125 pieces of automotive equipment, ranging in size from 10-ton Kleiber and G. M. C. tractors and 6-ton Doane trucks to Ford roadsters, all of which are probably subjected to as severe usage as any fleet of trucks in California.

This Company has ample facilities for testing out various lubricating oils and basing their choice on proven success in service. They write:

"After seven years of thorough satisfaction covering the lubrication of our equipment with your Zerolene oils and greases, we are more than pleased to again enter into a contract for our requirements."

In spite of the fact that many automotive engineers are of the decided opinion that the most suitable crude for the manufacture of an automobile lubricant is produced right here on the Pacific Coast, a certain proportion of the motor-ing public is still influenced by the superstition that there is something mysteriously "better" about eastern oils, just because they cost more.

Why pay tribute to a superstition? The Zerolene-lubricated car develops better gasoline mileage, accumulates less carbon, costs its owner less for upkeep, and lasts longer.

Insist on Zerolene—a better oil—even if it does cost less.

FASHION Takes Her SUMMER HOLIDAY

BY BARBARA WINSLOW

The Vacation Wardrobe Makes Generous Use of Flannel, Crepe and Knit Fabrics —
Luggage Meets the Wardrobe's Needs

Only the occasional woman has an opportunity to play dress-up, and she is that. She is the woman who is off at the year were playing holidays, to sport would be as tedious as work, but the average woman is quite content to be busy through the major portion of the year, living in the holiday and in anticipation of the holiday to come. It does not take a fortune teller to prophesy a journey, or meeting, or pleasant days ahead, for holiday time is play time, and the playground is in the mountains, on the shore of some inland sea, or at the shore. As to the success of the vacation, many things are contributory—the weather; the company; the surroundings; and the climate—only last because it is the climax—the wardrobe. What use a holiday when there are no smart clothes to wear? There is only a single answer, for there could possibly be no other: the correct clothes. The correct clothes are the clothes that travel to their destination without losing their charm. Whether it be an ocean trip; a motor tour; or a series of weekends in the country or at the lake; there is one thing that a woman's wardrobe that fits—not only its owner—but every occasion of its sojourn, must have: it must be able to arrive none the worse for their wear. These fabrics are the ones that should be given first consideration, for unless one travels with a wardrobe type of trunk, everything should be done to forestall wrinkles and a generally mussed appearance. People who make a business of traveling have become addicts to two materials—crepe and knit goods, and have learned to throw on them the weight of responsibility. Both are really the same classes of material, but the crepes are the heavy varieties—like the waffle weaves; and the medium-weight fabrics—like crepe de chine; and the lighter weights—like Georgette. With a reasonable amount of care in packing for the summer, in the trunk, but it is left to the milliner garments to give one a hundred per cent. of service on a journey. They seem immune to the usual results of close packing, and need only a shake and a smile to make them good for wear. In the long vacation there will be evening frocks and wraps; after-noon costumes; sports clothes—coats and caps; and all the hats, shoes, hose, and other appurtenances thereof. But the vacation wardrobe should be only a single evening frock; a coat that will do double duty; as an evening or summer her job is to "spend the summer" in play, and needs have no restrictions set on the number of pieces or the size of her luggage. Any fabric on foot, for she may depend on the closet-like wardrobe trunk and the convenience of shoe and hat trunks to transport her belongings, not only safely, but in prime condition. But the woman whose luggage is limited, yet wishes variety and practical results, has a factor that is a most important factor, since some materials take up less room and therefore pack to better advantage, and some travel better, and are quite certain

Fabrics Play An Important Part

FOR THE GIRL CAMPER

THE summer camp for girls is the most ideal institution, and every year more and more young people spend a large portion of the summer in the healthful atmosphere of mountains, lakes, and hills. It has been established sufficiently long so that directors can say, with authority, what clothes are needed, and what type of clothes are best fitted to the needs of the young people under their care. It is imperative that they be practical and stand up under the most strenuous sort of wear, and yet, they must be smart, or youthful in effect.

The material most in favor is khaki in its natural color, though there is some use found for poplin, perge, tweed, drill and linen. Flannel—the sports material of the season—is also represented. It is quite certain that the outfit will contain bloomers or knickerbockers which are advisable; sometimes both are advisable; and, of course, there must be many blouses; and a knicker suit.

The outfit will include a practical sweater; a raincoat; a sensible bathrobe; a swimming suit, and a few accessories. The cost is an exact type depending, more often than not, on the requirements of the camp directors. Crepe underwear is a sensible sort, and a few more accessories. The outfit requires no more than a few accessories. There must be the many accessories of even the most typical sports outfit—middy ties and handkerchiefs two of the most important.

son, it is quite possible to make a satisfactory choice for either the summer or the short holiday. Sports clothes head the list, of course, for is not summer the time of sports? They are characterized, always, these clothes, by a studied carelessness—without it, they are false. The characteristic is that best interprets this characteristic, is flannel, for it takes kindly to tailoring and possesses the "chic" that is so desirable. In white cloth is so desirable. "Chic" is the vivid color. The choice is endless: coats; suits; skirts; blouses, and the so-popular slim coat-wrap that is everywhere seen. It will play a prominent part in holiday fashions, whenever it is possible to include it in the wardrobe.

Bathing apparel—whether it be for beach wear or for participation in active water sports—is colorful and, when necessary, convenient. Alpaca, satin and the silk are the first choice for the more genteel swimmer. Cotton, especially if at all, in the water; and knit fabrics are the backbone of the swimming suit mode. Which brings us, as any discussion of sports togs is sure to do—to knit. Knit is the rule, but will find room in her baggage, no matter how limited—and it is a certainty that the more limited it is the more room she will find—for at least one knitted garment. There are many smart fashions of the day. Their coloring, their jaunty lines and their wearable

Alpaca, satin and fine silks are the first choice for the beach suit, that ventures only occasionally, if at all, into the water. The backbone of the swimming suit mode. Which brings us, as any discussion of sports togs is sure to do—to knit apparel in general.

The Sweater A Part of Every Wardrobe

The ubiquitous sweater will be a part of every vacation wardrobe, no matter how limited. It has its uses in the interests of versatility and general usefulness and becomingness, and it is a part of the wardrobe of every garment—either for wear with the secrete skirt, or for the added warmth that one finds necessary now and then. The pleated skirt, the sports vest, the use of the tailored mode, and makes use of the familiar, but always smart black and white combination. The best type of sweater wrap is the one that has a grace and freedom of line that no other garment possesses. Pleats knit in—stay in, and there is practically no limit to its wearing qualities. It has many uses, the most satisfactory that of a general knock-out, for no one does not have to worry about spoiling.

Into the vacation wardrobe there must go a raincoat of some sort—either of rubberized crepe de chine or transparent oil silk; a weather-proofed, twined topcoat—if space permits—finely hand tailored and hand finished; and the many accessories of bathing apparel; evening apparel and daytime clothes. Hats will be simple for general wear—of Bangkok straw, felt or suede, and the picture type of hat will play its part. From all the possibilities it is not difficult to choose the most attractive and those best adapted to one's individual purposes. Whatever the choice, the modes described are the most approved fashions for play.

NEEDLEWORK AIDS

To Beauty and Comfort

N these days of fascinating needlework possibilities, the average woman keeps her pocket work at hand all the year round, and more especially in the summer months. Her leisure hours of vacation time must be filled, she seeks the bit of handwork that may be caught up and laid aside when will come a convenient moment for a few minutes or a few hours as occasion arises. So there are always new things—of very great interest—her—appealing to her in shops. There are many seasonal, others useful all seasons of the year. Some like a task that means the patient labor of many months, in which the patient needlework, in which she must set stitches patiently, and set many of them, before the really beautiful pillow top, fire screen or chair back can be finished. There are, too, many types of fashion, may be achieved with such an achievement truly worth while.

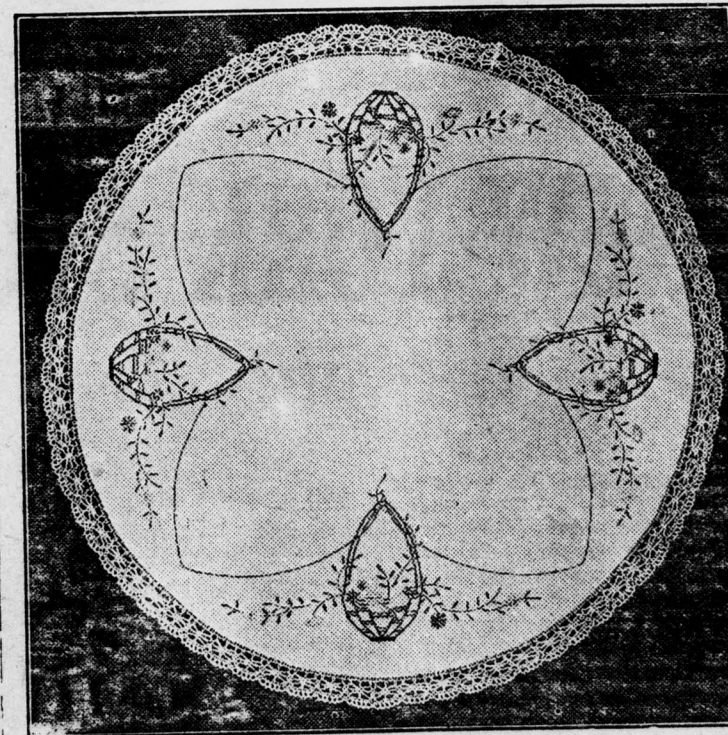

But the usual woman will tire of a task, the fruits of which are for the sleeping rooms, one is always finding a scarf or a spread.

that is worn or faded, and dreading replenishing day, lest hand work have to be replaced by machine embroideries. One famous housewife does over a sleeping room every year, placing her new covers, new carpets for chiffonier, chiffonier and dressing table; and recovering pillows, so that there may be an air of differentness—so infinitely desirable to her whose "lives with" the time—about the rejuvenation of the little things of the room. She changes the material, the color scheme, and the type of decoration each time, assuring the consciousness of the workman, the time and the mending against monotony in her neediness for work. On her shopping trips she studies the model rooms in big shops, bringing away new ideas for future use. Her shirt she stamps and sets, her set already stamped, and usually have a set finished to show the possibilities of the pattern, but if one wishes she may choose her material and her designs and have the stamping done

On average, housewife always has napkins or towels to hem, and it is a simple matter to individualize linen with an initial or a monogram. Luncheon sets and bedspreads are always available for hemming, the clever lady crochets, as well as embroiders, there is practically no limit to what she may achieve. She may need a Mah Jongg table; a new bedspread; a scarf; or she may have some one of these pieces in mind as a prize for future parties or for the children. She may want to make all her own handkerchiefs, passing over the tedious work of drawing threads out of the squares by making use of the squares that have colored threads woven into the web. These she may embroider or initial and a hem will finish them. She may have a few every costume, stamping them her

These things are extremely easy to make and may be duplicated by purchasing plain garments of fine materials in the model desired, then trimming them with embroideries and inserts of lace. The different materials may be used on the garments, and one may attain the end even more inexpensively by making the garments—running the tucks and setting the stitches with the needle and foot of the sewing machine. There are infinite ways to the business of keeping busy—and the art shops will continue to flourish. "What?" "How?" ENGLAND'S LABOR PRIME MINISTER IN MARBLE
The interest that James Ramsay MacDonald, Premier of England, takes in art is well known. The famous Labor statesman has lately been sitting for Frederick J. Wilcox, who is seen putting the finishing touches to his marble bust of Mr. MacDonald.

IN HONOR OF MR. AND MRS. SKIDMORE—

The first party in some time was the one given recently by the Upland Volunteer Fire Department in honor of the marriage of one of its members, S. E. Skidmore, at the fire hall.

Not only were the members there in force but the wives were also among those present to give the hand of welcome to Mrs. Skidmore. Mah jong was the form of entertainment, a game in which the wives are becoming most proficient, followed by chop suey for supper with tea and wafers.

At the close of the evening, L. N. Kirk in behalf of the Fire Lads, presented Mr. and Mrs. Skidmore with a beautiful bridge lamp.

Those who gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Skidmore were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Mehl, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Manker, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Plum, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Plum, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Deverts, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. MARRIED AT MISSION INN—

Of more than ordinary interest not only in Ontario but throughout the entire West End, where the bride is well known, was news of the marriage Wednesday of Mrs. Jean Kelly Thorpe and Sam. uel K. Strickler of Los Angeles. The marriage was solemnized at high noon in the St. Cecilia Chapel at the Mission Inn, Riverside, and was witnessed by the immediate members of the two families, only.

Attired in a smart frock of cinnamon, trimmed with real lace and with hat and accessories to match, the bride was a charming symphony in brown. She carried a bouquet of choice blossoms and fernery and was unattended. The Rev. Dr. Jackson was the officiant.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast of charming appointments served in the attractive patio of the Inn, after which Mr. and Mrs. Strickler departed on a motor honeymoon, which will take them as far north as Canada. On their return they will make their home in Sherman Way, Van Nuys, where the bridegroom owns a large ranch.

The bride is the youngest daughter of the late Frank A. Kelly and Mrs. Kelly of Los Angeles and Alta Loma and is a sister of Mrs. Elise Kelly Thorpe of San Antonio Heights. She formerly resided here and is well known in West End society circles.

The bridegroom is the son of Willard S. Strickler of Long Beach and is prominent in business and social circles throughout Southern California.

REUNION AT CHAFFEY HIGH—

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Eyer of East Tenth street were hosts at a very delightful family reunion on Wednesday evening when some twenty-five members gathered here from various points and enjoyed a picnic supper on the Chaffey lawns and spent the evening in talking and "visiting."

Mr. and Mrs. Eyer's daughter and her husband arrived lately from Phoenix, Arizona, and are the guests of members of the family, and it was in their honor that the picnic supper was given. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lehman and sons Harold, Francis and Marvin, Phoenix; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Eyer and daughter Sterling Audrey, Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Eyer and son, Mrs. Margaret Barner and daughter Betty, all from Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. ROYAL NEIGHBORS HOLD INITIATION—

Over one hundred were in attendance at the initiation of candidates into the Royal Neighbors of America, Cap 4146, held last night in the I. O. O. F. Hall, when the district deputy, Mrs. D. C. Everton, and a corps of able assistants from the Redlands Camp, R. N. A., put on the work in a splendid manner.

Members from all the various camps in Southern California were present, and the initiation rituals were conducted with great ceremony and impressive dignity. Later a delicious supper was served in the dining room. Mrs. Chester Dewey was head of the supper committee and served an excellent meal. Bouquets of asters of different hues with ferns were used in decoration, and the effect was most pleasing. Both visitor and local camp members spent a most delightful evening, which will remain with them as pleasant memories for a long time to come.

PICNIC SUPPER ON CHAFFEY LAWN—

A very delightful picnic supper was enjoyed on Chaffey lawn Thursday evening by members of the J. J. Atwood family and a few friends. The cool green stretches of grass with the shady trees make the lawn a delightful place for summer outings, and many people are taking advantage of the high school grounds for informal affairs during the summer months.

Enjoying the evening yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Atwood, Mr. and Mrs. Owen E. Atwood, Jack and Phyllis Atwood, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn M. Atwood and son Bobby, Warren Atwood and Harry Allen, all of Upland; Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Atwood and daughter Martelle of Woodlake; George Dundas and daughters Viola and Helen of Orange Cove; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fossett and son of Pomona; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peterson, Miss Lois Welch, Miss Lucretia Spies, and Donald Clements of Ontario.

Round the World Flyers May Pass Over Upland

Upland may have the privilege of witnessing the 'round the world' flyers on the last leg of their historic flight, along with other cities in this territory, if President Coolidge and army air service officials are prevailed upon to change the ruling which would terminate the flight at Seattle to return the planes to Clover Field, Santa Monica, the place where the flight started.

This was pointed out by W. D. Waterman, aviation enthusiast and head of the Ontario-Big Bear airplane line, who discussed possible routes for the aviators to take from Salt Lake City, their last landing place before the flight to the coast is made.

Here is what Waterman has to say about the possibility of Upland and Ontario viewing the planes:

"Much discussion has arisen of late as to whether or not the transcontinental flight should end at Seattle, San Francisco or the original starting point, Santa Monica. In any event there seems to be no discussion as to the routing as far as Salt Lake City, which would be the same as is now being used by the transcontinental air mail. It seems advisable to terminate the flight at whatever point is nearest to the original line of departure from Salt Lake City, preferably of course the point of original official start, which is Santa Monica.

"Upon looking over a map of air routes one can easily see that the flying distance from Salt Lake to Santa Monica and from Salt Lake to San Francisco are within five miles of each other, while the distance to be flown from Salt Lake to Seattle is considerably over one hundred miles farther. In addition to this greater distance the air route from Salt Lake to Seattle has been but little traversed and is exceedingly hazardous. This fact, coupled with the longer distance should eliminate that route as a possibility.

"The route from Salt Lake to San Francisco, although well established, is not particularly suited for the efficient operation of the 'round the world' planes. The most effective distance of flight for these machines is the distance of from 300 to 350 miles, a shorter distance necessitating too many landings and ensuing delays. Longer distances are exceedingly fatiguing to the pilot as well as necessitating taking off with exceedingly heavy gasoline loads. The hop from Salt Lake City to San Francisco would necessitate either a landing between Elko and Reno, Nevada, where there is no established aviation field, or a landing at both Elko and Reno would have to be made. These facts, coupled with the fact that San Francisco was not the real starting point of the flight, should, other things being equal, eliminate this possibility.

"The route from Salt Lake directly to Santa Monica is by all means the most logical. Approximately equal in distance to the San Francisco route, it is over comparatively flat country, and well established as an air route. The first leg of 350 miles is from Salt Lake City to Las Vegas, Nevada, where an excellent aviation field and service facilities are available. The second leg is of 250 miles, bringing the flyers directly over this section and to what should be their true destination, their original official starting point, Santa Monica.

It is my opinion that if every town along the Salt Lake, Las Vegas to Santa Monica route publish these facts in their newspapers and immediately forward copies of same to both President Coolidge and Gen. Patrick, chief of army air service, we will all be able to see the 'round the world' flyers pass over our heads on the last leg of their epoch making flight."

GENUINE GAINSBOROUGH COMES TO LIFE

An authentic portrait by Gainsborough, painted in the 1760's, the re-discovery of which by Governor B. Clarkson, former Director of the U. S. Council of National Defense, has stirred the art world. The subject, Mrs. David Garrick, wife of England's greatest actor, was a friend of Dr. Johnson, Gibbon and Horace Walpole. She is buried in Westminster Abbey. Valued by experts at more than $20,000, the painting passed unrecognized through a New York auction sale and cost Mr. Clarkson less than $1,000. It was later completely authenticated.

She was married last September at Ferozepore to Adin Brooks, chemist and professor at the Agricultural Institute at Allahabad, where they later made their home. Her mother, Mrs. Skinner, went to India for the wedding and remained on a visit, so was with her daughter when she died.

CAJON PASS BLAZE CONQUERED AFTER TWO-DAY BATTLE

Hundreds of acres of brush land in Cajon Pass were burned over by a fire which started Tuesday noon and which was only extinguished yesterday after a long, stubborn fight without reaching timber or doing serious damage.

The origin of the fire has not been learned but an investigation has been started by San Bernardino county Ranger Harry Burbank who led 60 fire fighters in the battle.

It is believed that careless campers caused the blaze. A small army of fire fighters from the Santa Fe shops at San Bernardino were still held in reserve in the pass today in case the fire should break out anew.

SWING HAS DONE MUCH FOR HIS DISTRICT

Congressman Phil Swing in a letter to The News states that a lot of people have inquired as to what he has done since he has been representing this district at Washington and that those interested might know of some of the things accomplished for this section he sends The News the following:

1921 Emergency agricultural tariff for California products.

1922 Regular tariff with best rates ever given for our products.

1922 San Bernardino—Assisted in securing Government appropriation for Deep Creek cut-off to Big Bear Valley.

COW TESTING TO PROCEED AGAIN

Following the re-organization of the Ontario-Chino Cow Testing association with the San Bernardino Cow Testing association, the two have become one organization which will handle the cow testing work in this territory under the latter name.

The Farm Bureau formerly offered the cow testing work here. New by-laws have been adopted and directors elected. The organization will combine in one management, the former business of the two.

The officers elected are, H. B. Bemis, director; F. M. Barney, vice-director; H. A. Condee, Murdo Campbell and F. Van Horn, members of the executive committees, and W. W. Coke, secretary-treasurer.

With the approval of the board of supervisors, August 15 was the date set to begin testing again. The price for testing will remain the same. Adolphus Whitney and George Johnson will be in charge of the testing, but as a matter of precaution against a possibility of the testers carrying infection, they are required to disinfect their clothing and any other paraphernalia which might become a carrier before entering each premises to begin work.

That careful cow testing work is one of the essentials to success in the dairy business, is evidently being appreciated by the dairymen of San Bernardino county more and more. In less than three years the work had grown from a very small beginning, dividing time with Riverside county to keep one tester busy, until when the work was suspended because of the foot and mouth quarantine something like 2,000 cows were on test in San Bernardino county.

The "cow competition" contest which was well under way when the quarantine went into effect, is necessarily suspended for this year, but will be put into effect again beginning January 1, 1925, running for the entire year. A very fine assortment of silver loving cups have been provided one for each of eight contest classifications. This is going

FLOWERS HAVE OWN FEELINGS

Flowers are almost as quick to show signs of displeasure as human beings. Most people know what it is to arrange two kinds of blossoms in a vase and then to find, a few hours later, that the blossoms are drooping. In most cases this is due to the fact that flowers object to being associated with one another. Separate the blossoms and in a short while they will be as fresh as ever. Lilies of the valley are hardly ever happy for long when mixed with other flowers and soon show their dislike by drooping badly. Roses, carnations, sweet peas and mignonette are all flowers which should be kept to themselves. Either they will affect the blossoms with which they are placed or they themselves will quickly fade.

Quite a number of flowers dislike music. Time and again it has been noticed that blossoms on a piano which is frequently played last only a short while. Even more curious is the effect of a jazz band on some of the more sensitive flowers. The large Easter lilies and cyclamen have been noticed to turn away from a band which was playing dance music just as if they wished to get as far off from the sound as possible.

Things Look Better for the Farmer

If you could tune in the whole country, this is the message you would get.

Wheat, corn, oats and other grains have touched high prices recently.

The drop in the things you have to buy has added to the farmer's purchasing power.

Inspiration for the whole country can come from the men who do the farming of the nation.

Wise spending ought to follow the hard work of the past weeks and the marketing of your crops.

We count it a privilege to co-operate with all our patrons in the handling of their money matters.

They were joined at dinner by Mrs. Beckley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Powellson, of Alta Loma.

Herbert Powellson drove up from Imperial Valley late Monday evening, returning there the following day. Mrs. Powellson following him back, where she will remain until Sunday, returning here with friends from the valley.

Mr. Powellson received a severe injury to one eye while at his work and came home here for treatment. It is hoped he will be well enough to return to his duties in a few days.

"Fawnskin," Big Bear Valley "Fawnskin," sprightly name of one of the first and fast growing pleasure resorts of Big Bear Valley, beautifully situated amid towering pines and wooded hills on the north side of Big Bear Lake, has been the choice of many Cucamongans for a summer home; among the cozy cabins already established are notably, "Pine Shadows," summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent G. Lucas; "Pastime," mountain home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Harvey; the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Krysto on the lake front, as well as the Dresden Kilbourn cottage, the lakeside home of Alfred Davenport (now of Ontario), Miss Christine Krysto, S. M. Garrard and the cabin just finished by Harry Karr; Oscar Whitney and others have purchased or leased lots on which they intend to build in the near future. Mr. and Mrs. Lucas, who have but returned with their three daughters after three weeks in the Valley, are enthusiastic "boosters" for the famous little resort of "Fawnskin," with its romantic background of Indian lore and historic interest.

It is fine to see a sign "Expert Repairing Here," for most experts are in need of repairing.

Phone Call Mystery
Sheriff W. A. Shay testified that he failed to find any trace of the reported accident, and that investigation in Pasadena disclosed that no Jack Hamilton lived there, and that the 924 San Marino avenue was a fictitious number.

The two defendants testified that when they went to Arlington Lodge to claim their baggage it had been removed from the hotel, to the Motor Transit Company's station. There, they testified, they found that one of the packages was tied with a different cord but they did not open it.

Mrs. Deneshie was in court with her six-month-old baby, which was in the car at the time of their arrest, she testifying that it was the only "man" that had been in the machine that day.

Hugh Dickson, former local attorney, defended the women, and Deputy District Attorney Stanley Mussell prosecuted the case.

Character "Very Best"
Two character witnesses, J. A. Maloney of Colton, and H. B. Fisher of Long Beach, testified that they had known the two women for several years and that their characters were of the very best.

As the jurors left the courtroom after the trial Mrs. Deneshie stood by the door and shook hands with each of them, while Mrs. Parker stood beside her and smiled her thanks as they filed past.

Members of the jury included: E. G. Perry, foreman; A. S. Good; John Roberts, William Sharps, E. L. Rice, T. C. Moore, T. G. Shreve, C. A. Follette, M. Lytle, E. F. Pommer, H. H. Hes-ton and Ed. Peterson.

SISTERS DENY BOOZE CHARGE, TURNED LOOSE

Jury Convicted Failure Of Frame-up Responsible For Liquor Find

Telling a story of being the victims of a "frame-up" which they declared was intended to involve a man whose automobile they were driving at the time they were arrested on June 6 and six quarts of Scotch liquor taken from the car, Mrs. J. C. Parker and Mrs. Eva B. Deneshie, sisters of Los Angeles, were freed of the charge of transporting intoxicating liquor by a jury in Justice of the Peace Jerome B. Kavanaugh's court at San Bernardino Wednesday morning. The jury deliberated about 10 minutes.

Both women denied knowledge of the liquor's presence in their baggage, which they testified they had made a special trip from Los Angeles to Arlington Lodge, Lake Arrowhead, to obtain. When arrested on the switchbacks near Squirrel Inn on a "tip" from a man who gave his name as Jack Hamilton, 924 San Marino Avenue, Pasadena, the women testified they were very much surprised when the officers found liquor in the baggage.

"Frame-up" Charged
Strength was added to the story of the "frame-up" when John S. Berger, Los Angeles real estate man, whose car the women were driving when arrested, testified that he had been a guest at the lodge 10 days previous and left because the place was "so rotten with gambling and cheating that it was not a fit place to stay".

Attempting to prove that he was marked as the victim of the asserted frame-up because of the threat to have the place raided because of its alleged lawless activities, Berger charged that his enemies "planted" the liquor in his baggage and also that of Mrs. Parker's, believing that he would return to the resort after it.

To carry out their plans, Berger charged in his testimony, the mysterious person telephoned the sheriff's office that an automobile with two women and one man in it had crowded him off the highway on the mountain road. This scheme, Berger testified, was intended to bring about his arrest, the perpetrators thinking that he was in the automobile.

GAS IS TAKING PLACE OF "JUICE" ON THE RANCHES

That the state of California in view of the gigantic strides it is making despite several adverse factors—such as the recent foot and mouth disease of live stock, and the forest fire situation and drought conditions—must present a mighty and inspiring spectacle to the rest of the nation, was declared here today by C. G. Spencer, local manager for the Southern Counties Gas company.

"The shortage of water power in this state," Spencer said, "might at first glance be looked upon as disastrous. On second thought, however, it will be found that this is not at all the case. Even if there is such a shortage, California with its unexampled resources still is able to overcome the difficulty."

"For instance, gasoline and natural gas are jumping into the breach—and hundreds of pumping plants throughout the Golden State are kept in operation. This is, in my opinion astounding proof of what a remarkably self-sustaining state California really is."

"In Southern California and particularly in the Upland and Ontario districts we have recently been installing hundreds of additional horse power on various ranches. It is a fact, perhaps not very well known, that a gasoline engine can be converted into one utilizing natural gas, in the space of a few hours. Numerous gasoline engines have been and are being thus converted. On many ranches entirely new internal combustion engines are being installed."

"Economy of operation is one of the many factors which cause power users to turn to natural gas as a fuel. Still another factor is the steady, uninterrupted service that this fuel offers."

"We supply gas engines on what is known as a preferred schedule. This is next in importance to the domestic schedule, which takes precedence over all other schedules in emergencies, such as a sudden shortage of natural gas."

"What this means to the user of natural gas may be quickly gathered when it is stated that at least 40,000,000 cubic feet of gas, delivered daily by us, would be available within thirty minutes time to augment the flow to natural gas engines, in case a shortage occurred. This amount of gas would be diverted from those consumers whom we supply on our surplus industrial schedules, who sign a contract to be equipped to use fuel other than natural gas, on demand."

"This protection means that rarely if ever, will the user of a natural gas engine be curtailed in operation."

CUCAMONGA

I. N. Pierce, cashier at the Santa Fe Railway office is traveling by his "lonely" these days, friend wife having hied away to Salt Lake City, where she will remain several weeks visiting friends and relatives in that locality.

Many Cucamongans interested in the new San Antonio Community Hospital attended the dedication and opening exercises Wednesday from 3:30 to 9 o'clock. Over two thousand visited the hospital throughout the receiving hours and admired and exclaimed over every detail of one of the finest little hospitals on record. The committee representing this section included George Tracy Morris, John M. Hager, Mrs. A. C. Beattie, Mrs. J. H. Williams, Miss Gertrude Reid; as ushers, Mrs. Geo. E. Keyes, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. L. J. Thomas, Mrs. M. J. Reid, Mrs. E. R. Hively, Mrs. Harry de Berard, Mrs. E. S. Bishop; at the serving tables, Mrs. Wayne E. Morse, Mrs. H. H. Thomas, Mrs. L. R. Parkin, Mrs. A. H. Bridge, Mrs. W. I. Pinckney and Mrs. Hugh H. Crawford.

AMPLIFIERS CARRY KING'S VOICE TO 100,000 SUBJECTS

With fanfare of trumpets and all the medieval pomp and circumstances with which Merry England is wont to greet its royal family on state occasions, the British Empire Exhibition was recently opened at Wembley, England, by the king.

An unusual touch of modernity was added to this occasion by the scientific achievement of present day telephone engineers. His majesty's utterances were heard by a vast audience of more than 100,000 loyal subjects gathered in and about the great concrete stadium by means of the public address system, developed by the engineers of the Bell system, and installed by the Western Electric Company.

A demonstration of the efficiency of the public address apparatus on a large scale was first made in this country when on Inauguration Day, March 4, 1921, President Harding delivered his inaugural address and was heard clearly by a vast assemblage, estimated at more than 125,000.

of Pomona, who with their two children, a son and daughter, will arrive Monday to make their home here. Mr. Kesterman will become a partner with Wilbur Minor in the newly established meat market in the Billings Grocery store, Alta Loma.

Mrs. W. H. Horst expects to leave for Kansas about August 10th, where she will visit relatives the rest of the summer, joining her sister and niece, Miss Matilda Schiedel and Miss Elsa Spencer, in Chicago on their return from Alaska, and all journey on together to their old homes in Philadelphia, where Mrs. Horst will visit indefinitely.

LOYD HEARING IS POSTPONED

Postponement of the preliminary hearing of Dr. Raymond Loyd, charged with extortion, until Aug. 15 was agreed on Tuesday by the chiropractor's attorney, Fred B. Duffy, and Deputy District Attorney A. S. Maloney.

Dr. Loyd is charged with attacking Dr. A. D. Hubbell, county veterinarian, and forcing him to sign $1600 in promissory notes and checks at the Loyd home a week ago. Dr. Hubbell said he went to the Loyd home to attend a sick goat and while there was placed in a compromising position by Mrs. Jeanette Loyd, the chiropractor's wife, precipitating the attack.

Attorney Duffy announced that he was preparing a defense to meet Dr. Hubbell's charges. The hearing will be held before Justice Jerome B. Kavanaugh.

IOWANS EXPECT TO HEAR HERBERT HOOVER

The Iowans of all the South West are planning to rally at Bixby Park, Long Beach, all day, Saturday, August 9, 1924. Hundreds of cities and towns will send delegations. Headquarters will be opened for each county in the state, for the colleges and universities so all may find friends.

Silk souvenir badges, hot coffee and popular program will be arranged but picnickers will carry basket dinners or may buy dinners on the grounds. Col. H. M. Bigelow, president of the Iowa Association of Southern California will preside over the program of song and oratory commencing at two p. m. The officers expect to have the opportunity of introducing Herbert Hoover, native Iowan, now Secretary of the Interior.

Every Hawkeye west of the Mississippi is invited to meet old friends and spend a happy day with the jolly Iowans.

Ask questions of C. H. Parsons, secretary, at the Iowa offices, Continental National Bank, Ninth and Main, Los Angeles.

HER CHOICE

(This is the case of the narrow, house-bound soul who is too busy to give attention to politics.) Friday was her busy day. That fine coal blackens the cellar stairs; She had not changed the water on the goldfish for a week; The piano case was checking. "Good-bye, Charles," she called mechanically— She was finding the furniture, polish and a cloth. The sky scintillated with sunshine; The air tingled with ozone; Neighbor voices echoed merrily outside; She scowled as she looked at the cellar stairs.

A phone is a nuisance. "No, Charles, I couldn't go. On Friday? Why, we wouldn't be back 'til evening. I have to clean the cellar stairs, and rub the checks out of the piano, and change the water on the goldfish."

"Mother!" Run along now, child. Be careful where you step; I've just scrubbed here. Don't put your fingers, on the piano. Don't breathe over the goldfish.

A great thought came sailing by; She heard it throbbing in the distance like an airship. She could not stop to look— She was changing the water on the goldfish.

Ontario Selected

This city has been selected for the semi-annual meeting of Lions Club officers of this district. Announcement that Ontario is to be host to the club officers was made at Wednesday afternoon's luncheon meeting of Ontario Lions at Hotel Casa Blanca and was received with interest. The meeting is to be held in December and will be attended by Lion officials from all over Southern California.

Wednesday's session was largely given over to reports of the recent convention of Lions International at Omaha, Neb., by H. I. de Berard and Vane L. Olinger, official delegates from the Ontario district. Adoption of a resolution directing all Lions Clubs to devote their chief energies to child welfare work during the coming year was the outstanding feature of the Omaha meeting, according to the delegates' reports. Cedar Point, O., was selected for the next convention of Lions International.

With a report of 100 per cent attendance for the past six weeks, all absences having been made up, the Ontario club was reported to have come off victorious in a contest with the Pomona Lions and the latter organization will be host to the Ontario club at a banquet in the near future, as a result.

Miss Estelle Taylor of Hollywood, a guest at Casa Blanca, favored the Lions with three vocal solos, "California, Here I Come," "Roses of Picardy" and "Gypsy Love Song." "California, Here I Come" greeted the California delegates to the recent Omaha convention on all sides, it is said, and the Ontario Lions joined in singing it today following Miss Taylor's solo.

A. W. Hayes was welcomed back to the club after a month's absence from the city and visitors numbered T. C. Lawyer of the Methodist Hospital, Los Angeles; Robert Witter of the Pomona Lions Club; Charles S. Traphagen, L. M. Blackmer, Aubrey Olinger and Miss Edna Mae Dacus, all of Ontario. Miss Dacus entertained with a reading, "Helping Grandma."

Preliminary Set

Judge George R. Holbrook yesterday fixed August 6 at 10 a. m., as the date for the preliminary examination of Charles V. Spencer charged by T. Y. Belew, a Street grocer, with the theft of a motor car.

Spencer was arrested in Los Angeles and returned here last week. He is also alleged to have cashed two worthless checks on a Los Angeles bank in the amount of $50 at Forrest Home, a resort in Mill Creek canyon, above Redlands.

Addresses Rabbit Breeders Assemblyman Isaac Jones, who is also a member of the Ontario city council, spoke before the Associated Rabbit Breeders of Southern California Tuesday night at Chaffey Auditorium, touching on ordinances regarding the raising of rabbits within the city limits.

Plans for advertising the rabbit industry and rabbit flesh as a food were furthered at the meeting.

Ontarian Fatally Shot

Shot through the chest by the accidental discharge of a revolver, Don Reeder, age 24, well-known Ontario Reeder and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reeder, a street and Monte Vista avenue, died last night at Hollywood hospital, according to word received here today.

At the time of the accident, young Reeder was managing a restaurant at 1826 South Main street, Los Angeles. Saturday night, Patrolman W. T. Foreaker, a friend of Reeder, entered the restaurant and preparatory to sitting down at a counter, took out his gun and laid it down. In the act, the revolver was discharged, the bullet striking the Ontario man in the right side of the chest. He was rushed to the hospital, where it was at first believed his injury was not critical, but death followed last night.

Young Reeder was a graduate of Chaffey High School and was for some time connected with the Ontario branch office of the Automobile Club of Southern California. He is survived by his widow, a small son, his parents and seven brothers.

Going and Coming

Billy the office boy rushed into the boss' office with his hat on one side of his head and shouted, "Hey, boss, I want to get off to go to the ball game." The boss said, "William, that is no way to ask. Sit here at the desk and I will show you how." He went from the room and returned with his hat in his hand saying, "Please, Mr. Smith, may I go to the ball game this afternoon?" "Sure, said Billy, 'here is 50 cents for a ticket.'"—Selected.

TO HOLD PAGEANT AT CAPISTRANO

The Right Rev. John Cantwell, Bishop of the Diocese, has signified to the Rev. St. John O'Sullivan, his approval of the production of an historical pageant with in the grounds of the Mission of San Juan Capistrano.

It will be given at 3 p. m., every Saturday and Sunday afternoon during October of this year.

The pageant deals with the long chain of stirring events, which comprise the history of this, the most beautiful Mission in California.

It was formally founded by the great Junipero Serra, on Nov 1st, 1776, although, in the previous year, a cross had been raised by Father Lasuen, whose further efforts had been frustrated by the destruction of the Mission at San Diego by the Indians.

The second episode will present a true picture of the unselfish work of the Padres during the prosperous times of the Missions. It will conclude with the dedication of the great church and the attendant festivities.

The third scene deals with the little-known incident of the coming of the Argentine privateers to the coast of California in the year 1818.

When the ships had cast anchor in the roadstead of Capistrano their crews landed, proceeded to the Mission buildings and held high revels there. The efforts to escape of two prisoners, whom the pirates had some time before pressed into their service, afford an opportunity for some excellent comedy.

The names of these two unfortunate were John Rose, a Scotchman who could perform musically upon the drum and Seor Don Mateo Jose Pascual, a negro mariner.

The fourth episode will be in the nature of a scene from the romantic age of California 'the magnificent 40's'; a period which was marked by the distress which fell upon the Missions as the result of Secularization. The scene closes with the crowning misfortune, the sale of the Mission by public auction.

The Epilogue will be of unusual interest, because for the first time in Pageantry it brings into touch with Mission history the great figure of Abraham Lincoln, who only a month before his death signed the patent restoring the Mission to the Bishop of the Diocese.

The Pageant of San Juan Capistrano has been written by Garnet Holme, author of many plays dealing with the history and folklore of California, who has been guided in his work by the advice and historical knowledge of Father St. John O'Sullivan.

SALARY INCREASE NOT ON BALLOT THIS ELECTION

The proposed amendment to the county charter, increasing salaries of county officers, was stricken from the August primary ballot yesterday by County Clerk Harry L. Allison when Attorney General U. S. Webb ruled that the issue was one that must be decided at a "general" election.

In interpreting the election laws, the attorney general ruled that the August primary was not a "general" election as required for balloting on charter amendments. Although there is adverse opinion on the interpretation of the election laws by District Attorney George H. Johnson and his staff, it was decided that the issue should go before the voters at the November election.

Heretofore, primary elections, particularly where there was balloting throughout the state, were interpreted legally as "general" elections.

Because of the constitutional provision requiring the publishing of the proposed charter amendment 40 days before the election, it is too late to call a special election in conjunction with the August primary on the issue. The proposed amendment, as drafted for the August primary will be on the November ballots.

Support for the amendment which provided for the raising of salaries of all county officers had been pledged by the Associated Chambers of Commerce, civic organizations and prominent citizens.

The proposal fixed the salary schedule at $3600 for the principal offices with a graduating scale to $1800 for supervisors.

Building Shows Gain

While still not up to normal, building activities in Ontario for July showed a decided improvement over June. Thirty-nine permits issued during the month just closed represented an expenditure of $61,110, as against $42,160 for the preceding month. The total for the year to date now stands at $454,313.

The total for the past month is only slightly lower than that for July, 1923, which was $64,621.50, though the total for the year to date is nearly $200,000 behind that of 1923, which broke all previous records, with a grand total for the year in excess of $1,193,000.00.

Of the 39 permits issued during the month, 15 were for new dwellings, which is looked upon as an indication of the city's continued steady growth.

Most of the permits were small, the largest being for $6,000, and only three as high as $5,000. A permit for additions to the Home Economics building at Chaffey High School was for $6,000; one for alterations to the Chaffey gymnasium was for $5,000; and one to Thomas White for a residence at a cost of $5,000. Most of the dwellings were reported to cost from $1,000 to $4,000.

Postal Gains

Receipts at the Ontario post-office for the month just closed totaled $3,539, according to announcement at the close of business last evening of Postmaster Presley E. Berger, as compared to $2,955.50 for the month of July, 1923, a gain of $583.50 or nearly 20 per cent.

The cancellation machine in the Ontario office, which has just completed its first month as a first-class office, showed that 129,000 letters and post cards passed through during July.

Postmaster Berger reported today that 12 new letter collection boxes for installation in the residence districts of the city have been shipped to Ontario and will soon be erected.

Contest Winner Coming

Don Tyler, Los Angeles high school boy, winner of the recent National oratorical contest, is to deliver his address on the Constitution of the United States in Ontario Sunday evening, Aug. 10. Young Tyler is to appear at the First Methodist Episcopal Church and will be the principal speaker at a union service of a number of the Evangelical churches of the city.

The coming local appearance of the youthful orator was announced at yesterday afternoon's luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club at Hotel Casa Blanca by the Rev. John B. Toomey, pastor of Bethel Congregational church. All Rotarians were urged to hear his address.

Mayor Willard D. Ball made his first appearance at the Rotary Club yesterday after an absence of several weeks, during which time he was confined to a hospital recovering from injuries sustained when an airplane in which he was a passenger fell into Big Bear Lake early in June. The executive was given a hearty welcome.

Claude W. Randall, city superintendent of schools, gave a craft talk on schools. He told of the aims of present day educators to carry out the vision of Horace Mann in fitting children for life. He declared that 20,000,000 children in the United States in the fall, Arthur I. Peterson also gave a craft talk featuring the department store and its service to patrons.

Prof. George P. Weldon of the faculty of the Chaffey Junior College of Agriculture just back from a month's tour of Arizona and Colorado, told of visits to Rotary clubs in those states.

There were a number of visitors present from San Bernardino, Los Angeles and Upland. President G. D. Smith occupied the chair.

NEW WELL TAPS VERITABLE RIVER

That the new well which came in about two weeks ago in the J. J. Forbes property northwest of Upland is the most remarkable one ever developed in the district, is the discovery of engineers who have recently completed tests on the new project. Pumping 271 inches of water, more than four times the production of what have heretofore been considered big wells in this district, the new well is setting a record almost too big to be real. Engineers, property owners, and all others concerned in the project are still trying to get their breath after the overwhelming discovery of nearly unbelievable good luck.

The limit production of the well can not be estimated, for although a 24-inch Layne-Bowler pump, the largest pump that the company manufactures, and a 200-horsepower engine installed by Fairbanks, Morse, were working at full capacity during the tests, the new well gave forth a steady and full head of water, with no sign of slackening. Pulling down only 13.7 feet, it remained unwavering at that level while the biggest pumps and most powerful motors available pulled at its supply.

Unlike most wells, which necessitate the pumping out of sand for a period of several days before the clean water flows, the Forbes well produced practically no sand. This would indicate that the high-powered tools may have bored their way through the earth's crust into the bed of a rushing underground river larger than anything that has been struck in any of the surrounding country.

In spite of the fact that its limit has not yet been determined, the Forbes well may be running at only two thirds of its capacity, for all other wells in the vicinity are producing less than two thirds of their normal output at the present time. With wells low all over the country, and water scarce, the coming in of an apparently limitless supply from an unexpected source is encouraging not only to those directly concerned but to the country in general. It is said that water levels are lower just now than they have been in 50 years, and there is a long, dry season still ahead.

While wells in the neighborhood of the Forbes property are pumping anywhere from 12" to 24", the new well is capable of putting out a volume of water equaling the total production of seven average wells.

A number of tests have been made on the big well, the first having taken place about two weeks ago and showing an output of 140". After each test the machinery was enlarged to care for more water, until the present production of 271" was recorded. No further attempts to increase the flow will be made at the present time. During the tests the water pumped from the well flowed in a torrent down through the wash and ran to waste among the rocks and sand. One reason for refraining from further tests just now is that the useless waste when water is at such a premium seems, in the opinion of Mr. Forbes, almost a crime.

The Forbes property is located northeast of Claremont above the Baseline road near the wash. The well was secured for the purpose of supplying water for certain lands which Mr. Forbes had planned to develop. What disposition will be made of the surplus of water has not yet been determined. The exact type and course of conduits is also still under consideration.

Of course there is a chance that the big well is drawing water from a pocket or huge underground pool which will give out in a short period. But the fact that the drop in the water level when pumping was begun is so small compared to that of other wells, leads the engineers to believe that not a pocket but a flowing stream has been tapped.

Work is now under way for the construction of a pump house to properly house the plant. The well was drilled by S. T. Catey, of Los Angeles, a 24" casing being put in to a depth of 528 feet. The tests were made by Willis Jones and Ralph Shoemaker, water engineers.

ANOTHER WAY TO SAVE DAYLIGHT

Daylight saving, in the usual meaning of the term, as a means of adding the campaign in charge of Power Supervision H. G. Butler of the State Railroad Commission has failed to get a foothold in Southern California.

Santa Barbara, Ontario and Upland tried it without waiting for the general adoption which many hoped would come about through the Governor's ukase, and gave it up as impracticable.

Several other towns endorsed it but went no further.

But the idea shows vitality, and perhaps in the new form originating in Oxnard will "get somewhere." The Oxnard Chamber of Commerce has gone on record as in favor of saving an hour a day without disturbing the hands of the clock.

Ranchers thereabouts, who opposed the "orthodox" form of daylight saving, met with the Chamber and agreed to support the new suggestion.

The idea is to let the clock have its own way but begin and end the business day one hour earlier than at present. The plan would in fact make no change in the nocturnal habits of the farmers but would operate merely on the opening and closing of stores in town.

In other words, it would be an urban and not a suburban measure. The farmers agreed to do their purchasing in town before 5 p. m., and at last accounts the merchants of Oxnard were being canvassed to see how many would fall in line for the proposition.

As the days shorten it would effect a saving in the use of electric light, for many stores begin to burn lights by 4 or 5 p. m. Ranchers gave as their reason for not wanting to move the hands of the clock that they get up at daylight now and if they had to get up an hour earlier, they would have to burn electricity probably for an hour.

Theatre managers oppose daylight saving because, as they claim, people go to the theatre in the evening by the light outdoors and not by the clock.

The effect would be, they say, to keep many people out of the first evening performance.

AWFULLY HOMESICK

A native clerk in Manila asked his chief for a transfer to some other department or to another island, as the Los Angeles Times tells the story.

"But why do you want to leave here?" asked the superior officer.

"Because," the man replied, "I am homesick."

"Oh, well, in that case there is no need for a transfer. I can arrange for you to have a little vacation and then you can come back. Where is your home?"

"Right here, boss," was the cheerful reply, "and I am sick of it."—Pathfinder.

It was formerly the custom in France when the president spoke at public banquets for the audience to remain standing during the speeches. This has been abolished by the new president, M. Doumergue.

THE FIRST AMERICAN FLAG

One hundred and forty-nine years ago Friday, June 20, the hand of a senior lieutenant on the ship Katy, lying in the Delaware River, set to the breeze for the first time a flag with alternate stripes of red and white. It signified that an American navy had come into commission, with Commodore Essek Hopkins in command, by act of the Continental Congress. The hand that tugged at the halyards to set the colors flying was that of the executive officer of the ship, John Paul Jones.

That was the beginning of the Stars and Stripes, the flag to which more than a hundred millions of Americans now pay homage. The stripes were there, but the stars of the states were still to be set in place. In their stead the blue field of the banner bore the crosses of St. Andrew and St. George, the twin crosses of England—visual assurance that the men of the colonies yet clung to their English faith and origin and were concerned only with securing that freedom to which they were entitled as Englishmen dwelling overseas.

A year and a half later the Stars and Stripes was formally adopted by Congress. Curiously enough, neither that banner nor its predecessor was ever carried by troops of the Revolutionary armies. They fought under the flags of their states. It was for the hardy seafarers to carry it around the world and win for it international honors.

Since those days there have become intertwined with the folds of the flag memories of great days and heroic deeds dear to the hearts of all Americans. Written in the regulations that govern the army is a complete code of procedure for all occasions where the flag is officially recognized.

One hundred years have elapsed since the song "Silent Night, Holy Night," now sung as a Christmas carol throughout the world, was composed in the little village of Oberndorf, near Salzburg, Austria. In commemoration of the event a monument is to be erected in Oberndorf.
